U.S. INSISTS TURKS BE EXPELLED FROM EUROPE

MINERS ARE READY TO COMPLY WITH WILSON PLAN

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—Suggestion that the joint scale committee of operators and miners of the central competitive bituminous coal field meet Monday in New York to draft a new wage agreement was made in a telegram sent today by John Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America to Thomas H. Branstetter, chairman of the operators' scale committee.

The operators and miners were asked by President Wilson yesterday to convene the joint wage conference as soon as possible so that the uncertainty as to the fuel supply might be ended. At the same time the president said he expected the majority report of the coal commission, recommending an average wage increase of 25 percent, to be accepted as binding on both the operators and miners.

Mr. Lewis' telegram to Mr. Branstetter follows:

"The president's letter of the 19th instant, addressed to the operators and miners made public yesterday, suggests the holding of an immediate joint conference to conclude the making of an agreement. In behalf of the mine workers I express our willingness to comply with his suggestion. I will be pleased to join with you in a call for the assembling of the joint scale committee of the central competitive field, having in mind the convenience of all parties. I suggest that the meeting be held in New York on next Monday, March 29th."

"Virtual Chaos Existed In Navy Department At Time America Entered The War"

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—Virtual chaos existed in the navy department at the time the United States entered the war, Captain Morris Lansing, assistant chief of the bureau of navigation during the war, testified today before the senate investigating committee.

Captain Lansing said no one knew what to do after a plan of action submitted by the bureau of operations had been disapproved and that the "personal characteristics of the secretary of the navy often made it impossible to get approval of really important policies."

"Whenever a plan or policy was presented to the secretary he almost invariably delayed action on it," Captain Lansing declared. "The personal interest he took in all matters connected with the department absorbed so much of his time that he never had much left to give to the more important affairs."

When important policies and plans were submitted to Secretary Daniels, Captain Lansing said, directions would be given to leave the papers for "consideration" and usually these instructions meant that the matter would not be heard from again until the officer interested looked the papers up and then frequently the papers could not be found.

"Conditions finally became so bad," the witness said, "that officers used every means possible to put their plans and policies through without obtaining the required authority."

"I was and still am amazed that the navy was able to accomplish the remarkable work it did, but it is certain what it did accomplish could have been done much more quickly and efficiently if we could have had a plan from the start."

Captain Lansing said many officers found this condition to be true and he offered to furnish the committee the names of other officers who, he said, would corroborate his testimony in this respect.

Captain Lansing said that just prior to 1917, the department gave out "such glowing accounts of the navy and its splendid condition and efficiency, that few, if any, outside the navy realized the true condition."

"The witness said he did not criticize the department's policy as to building programs as it always incorporated increased numbers of ships, but whether the numbers and types were correct was a matter of personal opinion. Secretary Daniels, he said, based his ideas of the navy's fitness on the total number of ships rather than on their condition or whether they were properly manned for war."

These three men were the most prominent among the defendants in the Michigan election conspiracy trial. Senator Truman H. Newberry was sentenced to spend four years in the federal penitentiary, Joseph Newberry, was fined $10,000 and Paul H. King, of Detroit, was fined $10,000.

ATTACK ON THE POLES

WARSAW, March 23.—Russian Bolshevik forces, which have attacked the Polish front with great fury in the vicinity of Bialystok, have been repulsed everywhere, according to an official statement issued at army headquarters here.

The Soviet forces were equipped with armored automobiles and tanks, and seemed to center their attack in the direction of Mlad in an effort to take that place from the Poles.

At some places there was hand-to-hand fighting and villages were taken and retaken before the Bolsheviks were finally driven back.

Lemberg newspapers announce the capture of Mohilev by the Soviet forces and say that citizens are fleeing ahead of the Red army.

Ukrainian headquarters have been received in Hunan by Premier Mazepa, it is said.

Wants Probe Of Gasoline Prices

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—Investigation by the department of justice of recent advances in prices of gasoline, oil, fuel oil and other petroleum products would be directed under a resolution introduced today by Representative Bruce, republican, Missouri.

The bill would investigate the accounts of the leading concerns producing oil, and would report to the committee the existence of any combination to restrain trade.

FALL OF EBERT CABINET BELIEVED TO BE NEAR

COPENHAGEN, March 23.—Formation of a new German cabinet is a matter of only a few hours and independent socialists are sure of getting several important portfolios, according to telegrams from Berlin this morning.

Gas, water and electric service has not been resumed in Berlin and the tramways are still idle, as the independent socialists have assumed "a waiting attitude." They are said to be dissatisfied with the government's "soft methods toward traitors."

Poetic Justice

NEW YORK, March 23.—The alleged "rhyming rubber," James Smith, who is said to have quoted poetry to a druggist while he filled the cash register, was given poetic justice today when Magistrate William A. Sweetser pronounced the following lyric judgment:

"I hold you in five thousand bail, which means you go right back to jail; but before you go just let me say—
This hold-up game—it doesn't pay."
In this poetic disposition of his case, the prisoner promptly responded:

"It's all right judge, I'm on my way.
Your verdict means I'm going away."
L'Eclair.
And the magistrate replied:
"You said it boy, be on your way."

Wood Maintains Lead In South Dakota Primary

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., March 24.—With about nine-tenths of the city vote throughout the state recorded, tabulated results of yesterday's primary election on endorsement of a Republican candidate for president today showed these totals from 708 of 1740 state precincts: Wood, 22,450; Lowden, 18,288; Johnson, 17,560. Ten counties, mostly in remote sections such as the Badlands region have not reported. These counties have 112 voting precincts and many of them are isolated from railroad and wire communication.

On the fact of the available returns, Wood is leading in 21 counties, Johnson in 11 and Lowden in 11. Wood and Lowden are tied on an incomplete total in one county.

In counties where the vote was over-whelmingly for Wood, Lowden received most of the remaining ballots, while in counties which supported Johnson, heavily, the Illinois governor was the second choice.

Government Troops Holding Out In Rhine Province

BRUSSELS, March 23.—The government troops from the southern part of the Ruhr district, all of whom have been besieged in Wees since Monday night, were still holding their town safely late last night.

Allies To Permit Germans To Enter Occupied Zone

PARIS, March 23.—Two German officers who arrived here last night from Berlin to explain to the allies the necessity for permitting the German army to enter the occupied zone to restore order, saw Premier Millerand today and told him the French government had ample forces ready to deal with the situation in the Ruhr valley.

No decision was officially announced, but it is understood on good authority the allies have decided to give the permission and that all that remains to be decided is what guarantees will be asked of Germany to insure that her army will retire as soon as order is restored.

Here's Chance To Get Sub Chaser

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—Offer of sale to the public of 150 submarine chasers built during the war was announced today by the navy department. Constructed at an average cost of $67,000, these craft are now appraised, it was said, at $20,000 each. Inviting offers from yachtmen or commercial firms, however, it was said several already had been sold at a figure slightly below this.

American Legion Has New Plan For The Soldier Relief

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—Representatives of the American Legion had today for presentation to the house ways and means committee, a new plan for soldier relief, embracing provisions for land settlement, home building aid, vocational training and payment of adjusted compensation.

The proposal is a substitute for the original bill introduced by Congressman Franklin D. Miller and Thomas W. Miller, chairman of the legislative committee. The fourfold plan, carrying new rules of compensation, was approved last night at a meeting of the executive committee.

Under the bill, land projects in all states would be available to former service men and credit at the rate of $1.50 for every day of service together with a loan at the rate of 1/2 per cent interest would be authorized.

Compensation at $2 a day would be paid those who desire to acquire homes in city or country sections.

Vocational training would be extended for a time equivalent to service in the army or navy and compensation at $1.50 a day would be paid. Adjusted compensation for those who do not desire to participate in land projects, home building aid or vocational training would be paid at $1.50 for each day of service to be available within a year from the passage of the bill by congress. Former service men would have ten years in which to file application exceeding one of the four options.

To Sell Wooden Shoes To Americans

THE HAGUE, March 23.—Dutch manufacturers are going to introduce the wooden shoe to the American people. Representatives of several large factories have left for the United States where they will try and interest wholesale and retail shoe dealers in wooden footwear.

SELF INTO COUNTRY

NEW YORK, March 23.—Giuseppe Nardi, a young Italian, was held at Ellis Island today for possible deportation despite the fact he was so anxious to enter this country that he tried to strangle himself in by swimming from a steamer in the harbor.

Nardi, who arrived on the steamer Penna, from Naples, yesterday, shortly before she docked.

President Able To Leave Capital

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—President Wilson today made his first trip outside of Washington since he was taken ill last fall. Accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and Rear Admiral Grayson, his physician, he drove into Virginia as far as Alexandria. No stops were made and the president was away from the White House less than two hours.

Congressman Drops Dead

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—Representative W. J. Browning of Camden, N. J., dropped dead today in the barber shop at the capital.

Mr. Browning was about to step out of the barber's chair when he was stricken with an attack of heart disease. He died before physicians, who were hastily summoned, could reach the shop.

Fifteen Cases Of Sleeping Sickness In Louisville

LOUISVILLE, KY., March 23.—Fifteen cases of sleeping sickness, three of which resulted in deaths, have been discovered in Louisville, according to announcement by Dr. A. T. McCormack, secretary of the state board of health. Dr. McCormack declared there should be no public alarm as the disease is not epidemic.

Meet To Name 14 Delegates Wets Raise Their Lead

NEW HAVEN, CONN., March 23.—The Republican state convention, scheduled here today to name 11 delegates to the national convention of the party, also had before it a resolution urging Governor Johnson to call a special session of the legislature to act on the federal suffrage amendment, bringing the federal suffrage amendment vote wet majority back to 230. The governor, who is a Republican, has on several occasions refused to call an emergency session to take up this question.

Arbitration Boards To Settle Rent Disputes

CHICAGO, March 23.—Representatives of Chicago landlords and tenants met today to work out details of a plan for establishment of district arbitration boards to settle rent disputes. Real estate men, tenants and landlords would be represented on the boards, and advocates of the proposal declared that a majority of the decisions would be made by tenants.

Watch The Dirt Fly; Women Plan To Clean Up The City

Enthusiastic Meeting Held Today; Chamber Of Commerce Is Back Of The Movement

Portsmouth is going to have a "Clean-Up" campaign and judging from the enthusiastic meeting held today at the weekly forum luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce, the women of the city are going to take the initiative step and carry the campaign through to a successful end, the meeting being in the background of the movement.

At the close of the meeting a motion was made that the "women should clean up the city" under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. It was agreed that the campaign was not to

FOR INDIGESTION

Business has been left up to the women. They have been a hindrance rather than a help to the women in clean-up moves. The women's clubs have worked on this plan for sometime, but we have not been successful in obtaining sufficient numbers to conduct such a movement. It is our hope that the Chamber of Commerce will be able to carry out this long cherished plan. A city is judged by its appearance, and at present the appearance of our city is very bad. A more urgent question is the one concerning health.

We prize health as our most precious possession. Portsmouth and Scotland county has a very high death rate from indigestion. There are also certain ailments to be corrected, such as open drains, pig pens and open vaults. The rat and the fly thrive in these dirty places. Do you know there has been an appropriation for street cleaning for over a year? The streets should be kept clean by flushing and getting into the air. In the end, the public attention is a matter of self and in this case the rat saying, "They like air comes down to the individual," holds good.

Mrs. Henry Heer was the second speaker and she took for her subject, "Garbage." In her remarks she spoke of how the housewives were put to the trouble of separating garbage from tin cans and bottles and how the collector of the garbage runs along and takes the two. She also pointed out the matter of poor garbage cans being stolen and how the collector of the garbage collectors were in taking to the women about garbage collection. Mrs. Heer also spoke of the rubbish piles in back yards and how paper was scattered about, causing danger from fire. She said it was up to the housewives to create public sentiment to have garbage cans kept clean and to be kind to the garbage man.

"The fly" was the subject given to Mrs. Pearl Selby, who gave some staggering statistics on how the fly breeds so rapidly and carries millions of germs. An examination has shown that one fly carries 6,000,000 germs on the outside of its body and 9,000,000 inside of its body. "We just clean up to get rid of the breeding places of the pest. We must strive for a more effective way of killing the community of the fly. There are three ways this can be accomplished—by killing, by cleaning away all filth and by setting traps," said Mrs. Selby. She continued by explaining that the Women's City Club had started a "swat the fly" campaign and would join heartily in a clean-up campaign with the Board of Health, Chamber of Commerce, Bureau of Community Service and Junior Red Cross working together.

Mrs. White says her

Mrs. Columbia White, when called upon to talk on "The Fly" took occasion to speak on "The City Beautiful."

Debate Tomorrow Night

The Senior Junior debate to be held in the High School tomorrow night promises to be one of the most hotly contested arguments ever presented by a class debating team at R. H. S.

Both teams have drawn their arguments up in battle array, and the judges have been selected. It was stated that a prominent newspaper man, a Chamber of Commerce representative and a member of the Board of Education composed the judges for the contest.

The subject to be debated is "Resolved: That it would be to the interest of both countries for the United States to intervene in Mexico. The Junior team, composed of Misses Evelyn Campbell and Ruth Lockhart, and Paul Grant and Donald Parker, will present the affirmative side of the question, and the Senior team composed of Misses Helen Dowling and Lee Hamner, Isaac Kelly and William Senger, will defend the negative.

Mrs. Connelia L. Freuhert gave a general talk on "Clean-Up," adding that the women appreciate the work that had been laid before them. In her remarks she said: "In a clean-up the pig pens must go out of the city, butcher-shops should not be allowed to maintain their slaughter houses in the city, dogs should not be let run unrestrained, sunny without license, and all signs should be overhead. There should be one person in each block to see that the clean-up order is carried out and there should be a hauling force sufficient to meet the demand for the carrying away of rubbish and garbage when the campaign is on. White wash should be freely applied and plans should be made to furnish white wash free to the poor. We must agitate, educate and regulate, and let this be our slogan."

Mrs. William Briggs read the Junior Red Cross pledge which stands for cleanliness and she was followed by Dr. S. H. Kerrillman and Mrs. Isabella Thomas who spoke in favor of the "clean-up."

Before the meeting opened for discussion, Miss Alice Blake rendered a violin solo, accompanied by Mrs. J. M. Stockham. Mrs. Margaret Finney led the singing of the group songs "Back Up Your Tubbies" and "I'm Forever Dampening Garbage." Mrs. R. G. Wilkinson playing the piano accompaniment.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cranor of Sixth Street entertained, with a six o'clock dinner this evening a number of friends honoring Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Dyer, who are leaving with their family on the midnight train for Denmore to make their future home.

DR. FRED BLANKNER

Dr. Frederick Blankner, the distinguished specialist in the treatment of complicated chronic diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels, heart, lungs and nerves as well as chronic nasal catarrh, chronic eczema, running sores, scabies which is so prevalent as well as general blood diseases, is coming to visit Portsmouth to see a few special cases that have been written for him to come. At present Dr. Blankner is in Marietta, Ohio, where he has been for the past three months. People are making little journeys for a hundred and fifty miles distant to meet Dr. Blankner in a heart to heart talk when he explains the cause of their sickness and informs them just how they can regain their health. Dr. Blankner was in Portsmouth for five months about a year ago and his work and success when here is well known to hundreds of our people. Every day in Marietta his office is crowded and it goes without saying that Dr. Blankner has the full confidence of all his patients. Dr. Blankner is well known all throughout the State of Ohio and in fact he has a national reputation for the efficiency of his work as he has practiced in nearly every state in the Union during the past thirty-three years and it attests it will serve you well to keep Dr. Blankner's visit here seen in mind.

In the matter of extracting teeth without pain he has no equal. His work is simply marvelous when compared with the ordinary operation. Doctors and dentists all over the State of Ohio who are familiar with his excellent work endorse him to the highest degree of approval. No tooth is too hard to extract but what Dr. Blankner does the work with perfect ease to the patient without the use of chloroform, ether, gas, novocaine, cocaine or novocaine. No bad results. Gums heal quickly, in fact you enjoy every detail that goes to make the extraction of teeth a pleasure instead of a dread. Watch for the chronicle.

"Grippe" Leaves Kidneys Weak

The epidemic of colds and grippe that has been sweeping the country has seemingly left even a greater number of people than ever in a weakened, rundown condition from which there is but slow recovery. Much of this after weakness affects the kidneys and bladder, making it difficult for them to perform their natural functions. Sufferers have to get in and out of bed half a dozen times a night, their backs are weak and painful, sick headaches, and dizziness are common symptoms. No serious trouble may ensue, but the time to check such symptoms is at once before matters grow worse. No complicated treatment may be needed if a few doses of a good safe kidney regulator like Solvay's taken right away. Solvay straightens out an ordinary case of weakened kidneys in about twenty-four hours in many instances, sifts out and neutralizes poisonous uric acid and drives the clogged up poisonous kidney waste from the body so that you can begin to feel better right away. Solvay is harmless, contains no alcohol or habit drugs and Warster Bros. and other leading druggists agree to refund its full purchase price if in any case it fails to give entire satisfaction.

LABOR UNIONS SECURE SWEETING CONCESSIONS

LONDON, Mar. 24.—In the strike settlement reached by the German government with labor unions the unionist socialists are pledged to place in their parliamentary program the claims of labor organizations, says a Berlin dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

The government has expressed willingness to withdraw its troops from Berlin and across the Rhine—near government headquarters and raise the state of siege immediately. It is said, for 722 percent.

In addition, it undertakes not to attack workers, particularly those in the Ruhr Valley, and to negotiate with unions concerning the entry of labor representatives into defense corps.

The unions pledged themselves to call another meeting to decide upon the question of a new general strike, in case their claims are not met and the government's policies are broken.

The claims of the unions follow: Unions Get Deciding Influence On All Social Laws.

Reorganization of the government of the empire and Prussia must be undertaken with the cooperation of labor unions and the deciding influence upon social laws must be given the unions.

Guilty rebels must be discarded and punished. All officers of the public administration must be purged of counter-revolutionists.

The reform of governmental administration must be effected as quickly as possible with the cooperation of the unions.

Social laws must be extended immediately to secure economic equality for working men.

Nationalization of industry must be accomplished at once.

Better supplies of food must be arranged and available stocks must be placed at the disposal of the people.

Population Of Dayton 153,830; Shows Good Gain

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 24.—Population statistics for 1920 announced today by the census bureau included: Dayton, Ohio, 153,830, an increase of 57,253 or 37.3 percent over 1910. Parkersburg, W. Va., 23,000, increase 2,497 or 12.3 percent.

Population Of Dayton 153,830; Shows Good Gain

Dayton ranked as fifth Ohio city and forty-third city of the country in population in 1910, with 116,577 people, an increase of 37.3 percent over 1900. Only eight other cities whose population was more than 100,000 in 1910, have been announced this far in the 1920 census. Of these, Syracuse, N. Y., which was the thirty-fourth city in 1910, has reported 151,047 people. Toledo, which was the thirtieth city, has been announced as having 238,900 people and has passed both Cincinnati and St. Paul, twenty-fourth city and twenty-sixth city respectively. In 1910, by more than 8,000, Albany, N. Y., the fifteenth city in 1910, has reported its 1920 population as 134,734.

Delaware Vote On Suffrage Still In Doubt

DOVER, DEL., March 24.—Which of Delaware would be the 26th state to ratify the women's suffrage constitution amendment still was in doubt today, when the legislature convened for the third day of its extraordinary session.

No vote in either body of the legislature was in prospect before noon Friday and the struggle for ratification of the amendment and approval of the suffrage constitution continued. Today with both still standing at bay, the question remained as to whether the resolution ratifying the amendment would be passed.

I Shot Him Because There Was No Other Way Out Of It

—THOMAS BOWEN

Accused Murderer Gives His Version Of Shooting

Splendid progress has been made in the case of Thomas Bowen, a 30-year-old farmer, on trial before Judge Thomas and a jury in common pleas court on a charge of second degree murder for the killing of his son-in-law, Louis Rollins, in the latter's home near Lynn, on the night of Dec. 3rd, last.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Makes Food Taste Good

Creates an appetite, aids digestion, purifies the blood, promotes assimilation so as to secure full nutritive value of food, and to give strength to the whole system. Nearly 50 years' phenomenal sales tell the story of the remarkable merit and success of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is just the medicine you need this season.

Mrs. Lulu Rollins, widow of the victim of the shooting, and the principal witness for the state, and she gave some damaging evidence against her father, the accused, although the defense called several witnesses to discredit her testimony by showing that she told a different story on the night of the tragedy than the one she recited in court.

Mrs. Rollins in giving her version of the events leading up to the shooting, stated that the trouble was precipitated wholly by the defendant erecting a stove in the one room he occupied in their home after he had been warned not to do so. The witness told of the quarrel during which her husband ordered Bowen to remove the stove by noon the following day. She declared that Rollins had started to walk away from the door of the Bowen room and that he was shot from behind.

Relates Own Story

In an effort to break down the state's case, the accused took the witness stand in his own behalf and related a story of the events leading up to the altercation which resulted in him killing Rollins. He testified that for a week previous to the tragedy, the Rollins had refused to permit him and his daughter Elma to cook on their stove and as the weather became cool, decided that they must have heat as well as a place to prepare their meals, and so erected the stove, notwithstanding the warning by Rollins, who was away that day handling ties. Rollins was in an ugly mood when he returned that evening and when Lulu told him I had put the stove up he flew into a rage and coming to my door said, "Old man, I see you got that stove in—now you, I'll give you just one more chance. If it's not out by then, I'll throw it and you both out." The witness said, "Continuing Bowen stated he told him he reckoned he would not do that, and the talk continued until he made a demonstration with his fist and started toward me and it was then that in order to protect myself from being attacked, I reached under the pillow on my bed, and fired the fatal shot, the witness said, adding, "I shot him because there was no other way out of it, for it was a case of getting him or allowing him to get me."

Denies Swearing

The witness denied swearing at Rollins during the quarrel and also denied that he had been in the habit of totting a revolver. He said that Rollins was a dangerous and vicious man, and that he was afraid of him. In this contention he was supported by a number of character witnesses who testified that Rollins had a bad reputation in the vicinity in which he lived, while the opposite was true of the accused.

Elma Bowen, 14-year-old daughter of the accused, who was an eye-witness to the shooting, was called to the stand and her testimony was substantially the same as given by her father. She said that Rollins was the aggressor.

Undertaker Called

Undertaker Harry McCurdy, Wheelersburg, who was present at the post-mortem, gave it as his opinion from a view of the wound that the bullet entered from the front. He said the wound under the left eye was small, while the wound at the back of the head was larger and he observed that the bone on the inside of the skull at the rear was shattered. The state claims the bullet entered from the rear.

This afternoon the state called witnesses to testify as to the character of the defendant. After hearing their testimony, the arguments in the case were started.

Dandruff Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and stinging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

FIRM TO ADD ADDITIONAL FLOORS AND HANDSOME FRONT TO BUILDING

The Marting Bros. Company, prominent Chillicothe street drygoods dealers, have commissioned Architects Devoss and Donaldson to prepare plans for the new front they will install and the two additional floors to the Chillicothe street wing of their building. The front will be finished in terra cotta and will be one of the most attractive in the city when completed.

The additional floors will double the height of their present building and will give Chillicothe street another "skyscraper" and the firm much needed floor space.

Boy Scout News

Troop 17 stepped ahead of Troop 12 in the race for the Boy Scout pennant last night at the Willhelmette hall in one of the hardest fought games of the season. Troop 17 took the lead early in the game and held it throughout, although the Bladon boys came within two points of the winners in the second half. Lavender at center starred for the St. Mary's boys, while Barber piled up the points for the losers, making 10 of the 11 points for Troop 12. (The final score was 19 to 14. The score:

Troop 17
Orlick R.F. Barber
Schuler L.F. Wolff
Lavender C. Gordley
Schaeffer R.H. Bradley
Hirth L.G. Flowers
Field goals: Lavender 3, Schaeffer 2, Hirth 2, Barber 2, Wolff 1, Flowers 1.
Foul goals: Barber 6, Lavender 5.

The Troop 12 Bantam team was also humbled by the fast Troop 5 team last night at the Willhelmette hall by the score of 9 to 2. The excellent team work of the Troop 5 crowd was too much for Troop 12 and they were unable to cope with Wertz and Micklethwait at guard. The score:

Troop 12
Hordley R.F. Shank
Jackson L.F. Hubert
Young C. Brunner
Young R.G. Micklethwait
McNeal L.G. Wertz
Field goals: Schuler 2, Brunner 1, Shank 1, Gordley 1.
Substitutions: Barber for Shank, Schuler for Hubert.

Now Comes Springtime With its Severe Tax Upon the Human System

That general run-down condition, known as "Spring Fever" is now abroad in the land

Few people are fortunate enough to escape the debilitating, dragging down condition that always comes with the changing seasons, and especially when nature is undergoing the transition from winter into springtime.

Just now there is a universal readjustment of every element in nature. Plant and animal life alike merge into the reawakening that comes with the budding of springtime.

Naturally, such a decided change means a severe tax upon the elements involved. In plant life, it means that all the energy stored away for winter sustenance has been consumed and the plant or tree must gather new forces to feed and develop it and give it strength and vigor to enter upon the long dry heated term.

Similarly, the human body has just passed through the severest season of the entire year, and has been subject to the hardships of the winter season with all of its various attacks of sickness and disease. And even though you may have escaped the prevailing dangers and come through the winter without having succumbed to illness, still your system has been severely taxed, and all the stored up energy has been consumed in warding off disease.

The human system is now endeavoring to throw off the accumulated impurities, and your run-down condition is a mere preparation for the changing season.

As springtime approaches, you begin to notice a loss of energy, you become easily tired out, and fatigued, your appetite fails, and that worn-out, good-for-nothing, run-down feeling seems to have complete possession of your body. Your poor, tired out body has fallen a victim to what is commonly called "spring fever," and a feeling of complete lassitude pervades the entire system.

Just as plant life throws off the accumulations of the winter season, so does the human system find it necessary to get rid of the impurities that have crept in, and make the blood sluggish and interfere with the vigor and strength and energy that is so badly needed to enter upon the new season.

The most important part of the human system is the blood supply. It is absolutely necessary that the ever flowing stream of life-giving fluid be kept pure and rich and that no impurities be permitted to creep in to make it sluggish and impair your general health.

You should take the first indication of "spring fever" as an indication that your system has been severely taxed, and all the stored up energy has been consumed in warding off disease.

needing a thorough cleansing and toning up. Impurities that have been accumulating throughout the winter season should be eliminated, and the system put in the best possible condition to withstand the dangers of summer sickness.

Of course, you do not feel like placing yourself under a doctor's care and there is really no necessity for doing so. Your system simply needs a good toning up, and for this purpose there is nothing equal to S. S. S., the fine old blood purifier and tonic that has been in successful use for more than half a century.

S. S. S. is nature's own remedy, being made from roots and herbs of recognized medicinal value, gathered direct from the forests. It acts directly upon the blood, promptly cleansing it of all impurities, improving the appetite and giving new strength and vigor to the entire system.

S. S. S. gives prompt relief from so-called "spring fever," and a few bottles taken right now will put your system in perfect shape for the changing season.

You can obtain this fine old remedy at any drugstore. Your druggist will tell you that it is one of the most reliable remedies on his shelves. For free expert medical advice write to Chief Medical Adviser, 176 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

The Chris Green and the Tacoma will pass up this afternoon; the Chris Green for Huntington and the Tacoma for Charleston.

Court House

Son Will Administer Estate
In probate court today Raymond Mustard, Barren, was appointed to administer the estate of his father, Leonard Mustard, Barren town ship farmer, who died Feb. 25 last, leaving property valued at $3,543, the principal part of which is represented by a farm situated near Barren.

Adjudged Insane
Ernest Vickers, aged 21 years, New Boston young man, taken into custody yesterday on a lunacy charge, was adjudged insane in probate court and ordered committed to the Athens State hospital. He was taken to the institution today.

Early Town Woman Gets Decree
On the grounds of cruelty and indignity, Ollie Hummel, Earlytown woman, was granted a decree by Judge Thomas today, divorcing her from Frank Hummel, Ollie Hill, Ky., whom she married April 7, 1917. The decree also restored the plaintiff to her maiden name of Ward.

The plaintiff told the court that Hummel deserted her for another woman named Hattie Collins, and she declared that he is now living at Ollie Hill with the "other woman" as his wife. The case was partially heard several days ago and continued for further evidence. Attorney Luther Thompson represented the wife.

Mrs. Foster Seeks Divorce
Anna Foster, 2933 Grant street, charges cruelty and indignity in her suit for divorce and alimony, with restoration to her former name of Schaefer, filed in Common Pleas court today against Charles H. Foster, engineer, whom she married December 21, 1915.

Through Attorney Walter J. Dickey the plaintiff alleges that Foster has habitually cursed and abused her, beat her, and even encouraged his children to assault her, besides, she says, he frequently boasted of his conquests of other women and exhibited to her jewelry, pictures and things which he claimed to have received as presents from his "lady friends." Furthermore, the wife declares, she caught Foster in a house at 2118 Sixth street occupying the same bed with one Della Debo.

An injunction was allowed restraining the defendant from removing from the Grant street address and excluding him from molesting his wife in any manner.

Friley Granted a Divorce
Charles Friley was granted a divorce from Nora Friley by Judge Thomas in common Pleas court today on the ground of willful absence.

They were married at Martinsburg, Ky., in October, 1914, and shortly afterwards, the plaintiff told the court, the defendant abandoned him and has since been absent. He was represented by Attorneys Miller & Mitchell.

Field Officer in City
L. E. Hinger, field officer of the Ohio penitentiary and reformatory, was in town today investigating several cases in which the persons involved are out of these penal institutions under suspended sentence.

Takes Case Under Advisement
Judge Thomas yesterday heard the evidence in the divorce suit of Blanche Higgins, 715 Fifth street, against John Higgins, stockbroker, New Boston, and then took the case under advisement.

They were married at Morehead, Ky., in 1911 and the plaintiff testified that Higgins neglected her and their three children when they lived at Lexington and later when they moved here. She declared he had a preference for other women and that his treatment of his family was not creditable. She said that since their separation five months ago she had worked in a local shoe factory to support herself and children.

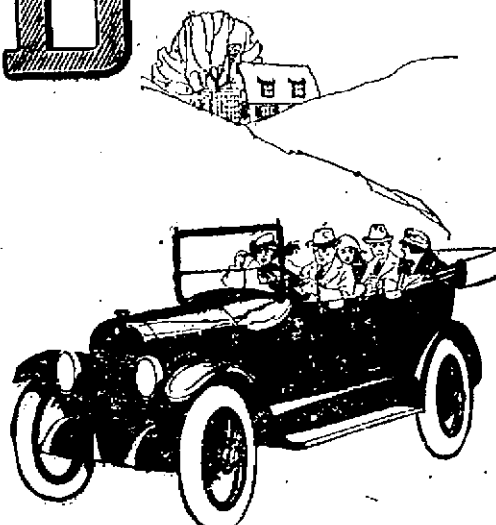

Higgins denied her charge of neglect and stated he had been paying her $250 a week to support the children. His evidence gave a false impression to the case when he testified that he had urged her to get a divorce and he would stand the expense. Attorney W. L. Dickey for the wife and Attorney H. Blair for the defendant.

Judge Stephens in Town
Judge Will P. Stephens of West Chester came to town today for a conference with the attorneys in the divorce case of The Noble Building company against the City of Portsmouth, growing out of the water works contract. The evidence in the case is heard by the Adams county court some weeks ago.

Judge Stephens will go to Cleveland on April 5 to hold court on the divorce case of Judge H. H. Stephens of the Adams county court.

DORT

Quality Goes Clear Through

No small part of the trouble-free service that is inseparably associated with the name DORT must properly be credited to the sound construction of the car and the skilled care that attends every step in the process of manufacture.

But the chief factor, we believe, is the very marked simplicity and accessibility of the DORT design.

The DORT engineers have deliberately, and with success, sought to evolve a motor car that would be as nearly as possible independent of need for service.

And, to carry the value of the car still further, they gave it so accessible a design that service, when deemed desirable, can be given easily and quickly.

Golden Trial Thursday
Golden Lewis, and his wife, Etta Lewis, indicted today on a charge of breaking into and burglarizing the home of William Cooper, near Arion, last fall, will be put on trial before Judge Thomas and a jury in common Pleas court Thursday morning.

Following the robbery the home of the Lewis was destroyed by fire and the barrel of a shotgun found in the rubble and identified by Cooper as part of the stolen plunder, furnished the evidence on which the prosecution is based. The defendants will be represented by Attorney T. C. Healy.

Leonard Wood Executive

Gen. Leonard Wood

OUT of 27 presidents of the United States, sixteen have been military men. Almost all the Presidents who have asked that war be declared by Congress had no military record and were known as pacifists.

Leonard Wood has had two objections raised against him as the next president of the United States. One of them is that he is too much of a military man, and the other is that he is not enough of a military man.

It is true that Leonard Wood is not a West Pointer. He was a physician by choice and a soldier by circumstance.

Educated in the public schools of Massachusetts, a graduate of Harvard University, devout in his religious training in the Episcopal Church, Leonard Wood stands for the family, for the home and for the decent life.

General Wood in his youth, under General Lawton, captured Geronimo in Arizona. Leonard Wood escaped the West Point training because he, like George Washington, entered the army from civil life, without special military training, and each resorted to military measures only as a last resort.

Won World Admiration

Leonard Wood's military governorship, both in Cuba and the Philippines attracted the attention of all the civilized countries, for the very reason that his methods of reorganization were based on constructive, hygienic, legal and educational reforms, and were not forced upon the people by military pressure, he ever placing the civil administration above the military. Never before in the history of the world did any colonial administrator have in his methods so small an element of military compulsion.

Leonard Wood is an administrator of the highest attainments.

Executive ability is not confined to business men. The capacity to command an army, to clothe and feed it; to munition and doctor it; to move, and fight it, involves the highest order of executive skill.

Wood found Cuba a military colony, suffering from centuries of misrule, plagued by yellow fever, torn by dissension, and discouraged by defeat in war. In four years he left it a clean, sanitary Anglo-Saxon republic.

Cromer's Opinion

Governor-General Cromer, of England, the creator of modern Egypt, called Wood's achievement the greatest piece of colonial administration in all history. Wood has accomplished every task committed to him. He entered the Spanish-American war as leader of the Rough Riders. He came out a brigadier-general, and rose to chief of staff. He pacified the Moros in the Philippines; attended the maneuvers of the German and French Armies; foresaw the World War and prepared for it. Because he saw the nation's peril, he spoke his mind at the risk of the personal humiliation and punishment which followed.

After the war, a wave of unrest swept over the country. Race riots broke out at East St. Louis, Washington and Chicago, with a shocking loss of life, only to recur again at Omaha, when General Wood, with troops and tact ended the orgy of murder. Later at Gary, eighty thousand men struck. A mob of five thousand attacked the police, and within seven minutes of the time General Wood received the call for help from the Governor of Indiana, federal troops were on their way to the city. So fearfully and effectively did General Wood handle the situation that the workmen learned to love the man, who was in his own person the considerate father of law and order.

Wood's Self Control
Washington was voted for his self-control and mastery of temper.

Compare this quality of Washington with the quality of General Wood, who had come with the 10th Division from Camp Funston to New York and was waiting to embark for the European battlefields, but received, without previous intimation, a telegram ordering him to leave his men and his "word" to Camp Funston.

Speaking to his astonished and disappointed troops, he said: "There is nothing to be said. These orders stand, and the only thing to do is to do the best we can to win the war."

Wood has always taken a deep interest and pride in men under him, and they, in turn, appreciate the ability, courage and sincerity of their commander and have a deep affection for him.

Needing Quick Action

When the troops at Camp Funston suffered from the cold, Wood wired to the War Department for blankets, which indeed, any man might have done, but he did more, he asked for an answer within six hours, which was unusual. No answer came. He wired St. Louis, and by night, express trains with the blankets for his freezing boys pulled into Camp Funston.

Wood has been constantly thrown in contact with the youth of the land and has not outgrown his own boyhood and his own habits.

Wood has been an "out-of-door" man. He has not been cloistered, conjugating verbs, and turning phrases. He says what he means and means what he says. He has taught it in Arizona and in the Philippines, and on the ground with his men and sharing their fate.

Wood and Roosevelt
Wood, in an extensive address, referred to his friend, Theodore Roosevelt, in this fashion:

"Theodore Roosevelt was the most dominant and most inspiring character of American life since Abraham Lincoln. Why was he so? Because he stood for a square deal. He was honest, he was brave, he was true, he stood for the family, for the home, for the decent life; he represented the highest standards in the higher virtues; in time of peace he was a devoted public servant; in time of war he offered his life freely in the service of his country."

Has anyone said more about Roosevelt in so few and well-chosen words?

Thirty Years' Service
The whole country for thirty years at great personal sacrifice, and has not considered any monetary advantages.

Many of his countrymen believe that Wood is fit to lead it, now that it has become the most powerful nation in the world. His steady hand can guide the Ship of State; his seeing eye has the vision of its destiny, and his courageous heart is equal to the strain of the voyage; it must take through the dangers of rapid internationalism, in the hands of a capable captain, it may founder with its cargo of human happiness and hope, or, with him at the helm, mark the course of world history to the benefit of safety for ourselves and all other peoples.

Wood, the versatile, industrious, capable and kindly man, is candidate for the nomination as Republican candidate for President of the United States.

You are asked to cast a vote for Wood delegates at the Republican primaries on Tuesday, April 27, to elect the man who Theodore Roosevelt said, "Has shown himself one of the most useful and patriotic of American public servants, and has made all good Americans his debtors by what he has done."

The Phonograph That Calls Forth New Beauties From Music Records

Perfection of tone is one of the striking qualities of the Aeolian Vocalion that place it in a class by itself among phonographs. It is the highest development yet reached in sound-reproducing instruments, surpassing all previous conceptions of the talking machine.

An exclusive feature, the Graduola, makes the Vocalion remarkable in its musical possibilities. You can actually play it in such a way as to express your own ideas and emotions.

This perfected instrument, made and guaranteed by the largest manufacturers of musical instruments in the world, also gives you the advantage of playing the new Vocalion Records—the most thrilling phonograph music ever produced. The Vocalion also plays every other standard phonograph record with greater clarity and naturalness. Whenever played, the Vocalion enhances the appearance of your home because it is a beautiful instrument.

The Aeolian Vocalion costs more than you must pay for instruments of this quality. We give Vocalion for as little as $29.00 and up to $100.00 in different styles. For those wishing complete details, write for a complimentary Vocalion Record and a Vocalion Record.

Come in and play the Vocalion—that's the real test. It will be a life-long experience, a revelation to you, and there's no obligation.

C. & O. Planning To Spend Millions On Improvements

Probably the most extensive track and yard improvement program adopted by any of the larger railroads since the government relinquished its control has been outlined and approved by the board of directors of the Chesapeake & Ohio, it was learned last night while George W. Stevens, president of the line, was here.

Oh Dear, My Back! How it Aches!

Oh Dear! Pain almost like that of tooth-ache. Sometimes my feet are swollen and it is difficult for me to get out of bed in the morning.

This is what many men and women write us, and it is all due to an over-abundance of uric acid in the body, which causes lumbago, rheumatism and gout.

Several years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered a combination of pharmaceutical products that invariably cleanse out the poisons by exciting the kidneys, and soothe the irritated bladder, so that now many thousands write Dr. Pierce as to the wonderful benefits they have received from this anti-uric acid and kidney tablet called Anuric. Sold by druggists, or sent 10c. to Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

PERMONT, Ohio.—"Anuric cured me when doctors and other medicine had failed. For about five years I suffered with kidney complaint and bladder trouble. I suffered with pains in my back and across my kidneys. I became so bad that rheumatism set in and extended through my limbs and arms. I doctored without getting relief until I saw Anuric advertised, and knowing how good all Doctor Pierce's other medicines are, I decided to try these tablets, and it was only necessary for me to take three bottles to completely cure me of all kidney trouble and rid me of all rheumatism.

"Anuric is the best medicine I have ever taken for these ailments."—Mrs. DAISY CHERRY, 513 Garrison Street.

DR. RICHARDS' WORDS SHOW WHY TRUTONA OVERCOMES BAD AFTER-EFFECTS OF "FLU"

"An Appetizer, System Builder, Strengtheners and Real Nerve Tonic," Prominent Physician Declares Of Perfect Preparation—What All "Flu" Victims Need

"As an appetizer, strengthener, system builder and real nerve tonic, I can heartily recommend and commend Trutona."

Dr. Richards, the prominent Tennessee physician, in making the foregoing statement, has really pronounced Trutona a remarkable treatment for overcoming serious after-effects of influenza and the like.

Victims of these dreaded winter maladies, after "recovering" from an attack, almost invariably find themselves possessed of little or no appetite and their systems in a dreadfully weakened, run-down and nervous state.

Considering Dr. Richards' words it is easy to understand why Trutona has proven such a remarkable remedy for overcoming these bad after-effects. "An appetizer, strengthener, system builder and real nerve tonic"—these are the qualifications that have won for Trutona the unstinted praise of thousands of unfortunate influenza and pneumonia victims who have regained their health through the Perfect Tonic.

What Others Say

Mike Hamilton, a traction company employee and well-known Terre Haute, Ind., man who lives at 415 South Pearl street, enthusiastically praising the reconstructive powers of Trutona.

May Remove Liquor From W. Va.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., March 23.—Liquor may be removed by the other state, according to a ruling handed down here today by U. S. Circuit Court Judge John C. Galt.

Opponents of prohibition may not remove them from one place to another within the state, however, but will have to remove them from the state. The ruling is given in a case brought by a man from another state into West Virginia, according to the ruling, as the act would constitute a violation of the state prohibition law.

TO BEGIN SURVEY NEXT MONDAY

Manager J. B. Wiles of the Chamber of Commerce received a message Tuesday from Sanitary Engineer Gaylord C. Cummin of the Institute of Municipal Research, New York City, stating that he would be here next Monday to begin work on the sanitary survey for Portsmouth.

Mr. Cummin will first delve into the City's finances and will make a careful analysis of the financial department. He bases his work in what the City can do and does not give a splendid typewritten report on what it should do. Then he will take up the garbage situation, sewage, street cleaning and nuisances. He will also make a study of locations for additional thoroughfares and conditions relative to a rapid transit system. This work to be followed by a survey of the present layout and future layout for additional sewers and a plan for reinforcement of the water distribution system and extending same to new territory.

Mr. Cummin's plans will be practical as he lays his work out over a period of years and sets down what the City can do each year, the most important and most needed improvements to receive first attention.

Will Fight New Auto Law

CLEVELAND, O., March 23.—Holding that the new graduated license law for license for law passed by the legislature is in conflict with the amendment to the federal constitution officers and trustees of the Ohio State Automobile Association today unanimously voted to carry the case to the United States supreme court.

It was unanimously agreed that the measure not only discriminates and imposes double taxation on motorists, but that it would fall to greatly increase the revenues for highway and street maintenance and repairs. It is charged that the law is imperfect and full of inconsistencies.

ADMIRAL SIMS AND HIS CHARGES

JOSEPHUS DANIELS may not be the most brilliant man who ever occupied the office of secretary of the navy, but when it comes to level-headedness and preserving equanimity under fire, he has no superiors and few equals. Take the case of the criticisms being leveled at the navy department by Admiral Sims. Sims came home from Europe with a great and deserved reputation for the work he had done as chief of our naval operations during the war. He ranked high in the estimation of his countrymen and when he opened up on the navy department it was not putting it too strong to say that his countrymen were agitated. Then Sims grew more and more eloquent but the more he talked, the less Secretary Daniels had to say, in fact he shut up like a clam and let Sims occupy the center of the stage.

Then Admiral Sims made the astounding statement that prior to his departure for Europe to take over command of American ships in foreign waters and co-operate with our English, French and Italian allies, he was told "not to let the English pull the wool over his eyes, that we would just as soon fight them as the Germans." Sims did not say so, but the implication was plain to every one that Secretary Daniels had made this as part of his instructions to the Admiral concerning our chief ally. It was so amazing that the public could scarcely credit it, yet Secretary Daniels said nothing, neither denied nor affirmed. And the belief gradually settled upon the public that Daniels had been guilty of this monstrous statement about an ally, just as we were entering the great war.

But now Sims has been put on the grill. Hitherto he has been having plain sailing, being permitted to say what he pleased and how he pleased. Now he is being quizzed and the first question hurled at him was, "who told him or gave him those instructions about England?" Sims did not want to tell, but he was ordered to do so. And then he said that it was not Secretary Daniels, but that the remark was made by Admiral Benson, chief of staff during the war, after Secretary Daniels had given him instructions, and in the course of an informal conversation among high officers in the navy department. He admitted he attached no importance to the remark at the time, but thought Benson was anti-British in feeling. He said Admiral Benson repeated the remark to him the next day when they met at a hotel for luncheon. Secretary Daniels apparently never knew of the incident.

Under further questioning, Admiral Sims admitted he had shown his letter criticizing the naval conduct of the war to a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., before it was sent to Secretary Daniels and a senator declared he would show that a copy of the letter was in the possession of a newspaper correspondent prior to its going to the navy department. Other developments are promised and none of them apparently will redound to the credit of Admiral Sims.

It is too bad that the fame of this admittedly efficient naval officer should be marred by his own indiscretions, yet it does begin to appear that he is going to reap the harvest of disfavor he sought to sow for the head of the navy department and for his brother of officers in the service.

We await with interest the testimony of Rear Admiral Benson. We imagine it will put the finishing crimp in Sims' charges, for Benson is something of a fighter himself, and considered one of the greatest officers in the navy.

The Wood and Harding managers in Ohio are at it tooth and nails, and the air is full of charges of corruption. Harding's friends say Wood has all the millions on Wall street cornered, while Wood's Ohio manager shouts that Harding has so much money at his command he cannot spend it all. And furthermore he says that Harding has spent more money in one county in Ohio than Wood spent in 88. With such an early start it is not hard to predict there will be some real, lively times before the April primary rolls round.

Having received a real polite note from our banker that he would appreciate it very much if we would call around and pay up what interest we owed and renew the same at seven per cent, owing to the high cost of living, we got real peeved about it and determined right then and there that we would inaugurate a saving first campaign and not spend another blasted cent until we had paid off every scrap of paper that our signature adorned.

THE RETORT COURTEOUS IN Ironton

HERE'S a merry little shot taken at Mayor Tom Collett, of Ironton, by the Irontonian, which does not love him at all and which is engaged in a great warfare upon him and the News, the semi-weekly paper owned by Mayor Collett's two sons: "Our esteemed young friend of the News emits an awful squeal because we referred to it as 'the mayor's paper.'" Of course our intention was not to give the impression that the mayor actually had any financial interest in the News. If he had we know a few people who would be glad to collect some old judgments through the attachment route. But our reference to "the mayor's paper" was largely based on the assumption that any man who could get his name in print twenty-seven times in three issues of a paper really owned it, no matter who stood off the creditors."

Being called upon the carpet for making the declaration that we would not have any more high water in this year of 1920, President Henry Faivre, of the Hammer club, qualifies for membership in the Statesmen's Alibi Club, by claiming that he was misquoted by a reporter. According to Henry what he said was that we would not have any higher water than this last flood during 1920. He says he is willing to risk a reputation, gained by 51 years of close observation of the weather and river upon this assertion. As we have never been able to prove any deviation from the truth on Henry when it came to river observations, we accept his explanation and will have a session of prayer with the reporter who interviewed him, admonishing him to be more exact and careful the next time.

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

BRINY GROWS SENTIMENTAL

Well, such funny things have happened. I am here in my room, at two o'clock, once more depressed.

I am also disillusioned. I have discovered that even flames are not always what they seem to be!

After the family left for the theater this evening, I got desperately lonely and called up Briny. He came like a shot, and we grained at each other like a pair of pirates, as we found our moderation for the first time in ages. How that man understands women!

We sat and talked for an hour, and I told him all about the way I felt—restless and eager to live alone for years to come.

He sympathized, as he always does, and told me that was the joy and the curse of being an artist.

Then we discussed the situation, and he advised me to get on to myself, and let the artist in me have a chance. He knew of a studio to let, moderate and all that, and suggested that I take it the next day, and paint there in peace every afternoon, instead of waiting or visiting. It was a wonderful paradise he opened up to me.

I am going to do it, tomorrow. I must have the right to self-expression, or go mad. I have so many things to do, and simply cannot stand my present sort of existence any longer.

Then Briny asked me to come out and have a dance with him and a little get my things on and we slipped out of the house, feeling deliciously clandestine and wicked.

We went to a restaurant that he knew of, and got a cozy table in a corner all by ourselves where we could watch the people. Briny and I have so many tastes in common. The longer I am engaged to Jack the more I realize this.

You see types are our passion. There were so many different ones in "Moody's Palace" and a traveling man. "Moody's Palace" said a traveling man. "Moody's Palace" said a traveling man. "Moody's Palace" said a traveling man.

BILLY WHISKER

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

When Woolly Ball dashed into the room with her tall abaze, Day and Night followed her to the edge, and they never saw such a sorry kid in your life as Night was when he found low badly he had hurt her. When she walked out of the water, with only the bone of her tall hanging to her without a bit of wool on it.

So Woolly Ball, being of a sweet, forgiving disposition, forgave him and the three ran off and played as if nothing had happened.

The next day Daisy had a little friend come to spend the day with her, and, of course, the thing to do was to play with the kids; so they were taught and carried up to the play-room, where they were dressed up in doll clothes and fed bread and milk with a spoon.

The last they talked very much, but they did not like their clothes, buttoned around their waists or the dolls' bonnets on their heads. And every time they got a chance when the children were not looking, they tried to tear them off and chew them up, and for this they were slapped and shut in the closet and told they must stay there until they promised to be good.

The closet she began to cry, "Mama, Mama, Mama, I'm so lonely and I'm so sad," so they let her out. "Night was quiet, so they said he had to stay in until he promised to be good. Could they have looked in the closet and seen what Night was doing they would have let him out in a too bad that I am not allowed out more by myself at night. He says it's impossible to develop either style or a point of view without mingling in one's own way with one's fellowmen. I know he is right.

Sometimes I am so utterly in sympathy with Briny's moods I almost forget that he is a man, but I can't truthfully say that I think he ever for one moment forgets that I am a woman. No—hardly.

The soft light and the dreamy music invited us to get sentimental, and we did. Briny told me that he had always loved me, but was not in a position to marry. He hated the thought of the chains involved in that state, anyhow. I confessed to the same emotion, and we were very happy and sad.

We danced a few times, and he held me so close that I felt quite helpless. Such things—

It's queer to realize that one can be fond of two men at the same time, and yet I'm quite sure that it is possible. Briny is so romantic, so tender, and so grateful for a look or the slightest caress given in passing.

We just sat and allowed our souls to be wooed by the music, and said but little after the last dance. But there was a great understanding between us somehow.

Once I glanced over and peered at the dancers in the next room, and saw Jack dancing with a girl.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 24—

It was in a great cafe.

Dim lit and Babylonish.

With soft perfumes.

And jeweled women came.

With resplendent escorts.

And far off behind palms.

Came the soft strains.

Of a hidden orchestra.

Mingling with the soft rattle.

Of a lighted fountain.

And I looked about.

And through the plush curtains.

Of the entrance I saw her.

A wild wondrous flower.

Wafted from Elysian fields.

Her hair thronged with gold.

And lips of sullen red.

Like a flame swept city.

And her lily white hands.

Were heavy with gems.

And I returned to my soup.

And finally.

She made her way.

With majestic tread.

Just like the rest of us.

To a table near mine.

Casting a Clevean spell.

Upon all about her.

Then there came a sullen man.

Who scowled at the water.

And then scowled at me.

While I sat and watched.

But now and then I'd stily.

Take a look at them.

And they didn't speak.

For a long, long time.

And at last she said.

Something I couldn't hear.

And I moved my chair.

Over a little closer.

And the man scowled.

And I moved back again.

As if I didn't notice him.

And went on eating.

And forgot all about them.

Until I heard her say:

"Henry, stop that!"

And I looked and he was

Saucering his coffee.

And he looked over at me.

And I kinda smiled.

And then he smiled.

Because he knew I knew.

His terrible secret.

He was a married man.

And got hawled out.

EBERT CABINET TO FALL THOUSAND KILLED IN BATTLE

COMMUNIST FORCES SUFFER SEVERE DEFEAT AT HANDS OF GERMAN REGULAR TROOPS

COPENHAGEN, March 24.—Formation of a new German cabinet is a matter of only a few hours and independent socialists are sure of getting several important portfolios, according to telegrams from Berlin this morning.

Gas, water and electric service has not resumed in Berlin and the tramways are still idle, as the independent socialists have assumed "a waiting attitude." They are said to be dissatisfied with the government's "soft method" toward traitors.

WESSEL, GERMANY, March 24.—(U.S. Press)—Six thousand government troops, reinforced by armed countrymen, had a skirmish with Communist forces numbering about 15,000 near here last night. Reports state 42 were killed and upwards of 120 wounded.

ROBERG, Saxony-Koburg-Gotha, March 24.—A heavy defeat has been inflicted on the Communist forces, who lost more than one thousand killed, according to the Reichswehr commander in this region. The Reichswehr had nineteen killed and thirty-four wounded, while nine are missing.

GOVERNMENT TROOPS
HOLDING OUT
FREDERICH, RHENISH-PRUSSIA, March 24.—(U.S. Press)—The government troops from the southern part of the Ruhr district, all of whom have been besieged in Wesel since Monday night, were still holding the town safely late last night.

Allies To Permit Germans
To Enter Occupied Zone
PARIS, March 24.—Two German officers who arrived here last night from Berlin to explain to the allies the necessity for permitting the Germans to enter the occupied zone in order to restore order, saw Premier Millerand today and told him the Ebert government had ample forces ready to deal with the situation in the Ruhr valley.

No decision was officially announced, but it is understood on good authority the allies have decided to allow the permission and that all that remains to be decided is what guarantees will be asked of Germany to insure that her army will retire as soon as order is restored.

LABOR UNIONS SECURE
SWEEPING CONCESSIONS
LONDON, March 24.—In the strike movement reached by the German government with labor unions the majority socialists are pledged to place in their parliamentary program the claims of labor organizations, says a Berlin dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

The government has expressed willingness to withdraw its troops from Berlin and across the Spree—near the state of siege immediately. It is said, in addition, it undertakes not to attack workers, particularly those in the Ruhr Valley, and to negotiate with unions concerning the entry of labor representatives into defense corps.

The unions pledged themselves to call another meeting to decide upon the question of a new general strike in case their claims are not met and the government's policies are broken. The claims of the unions follow:

Reorganization of the government of the empire and Prussia must be undertaken with the co-operation of labor unions and the deciding influence upon social laws must be given the unions.

Guilt rebels must be pardoned and punished.

All officers of the public administration must be purged of counter-revolutionists.

The reform of governmental administrations must be executed as quickly as possible with the co-operation of the unions.

Social laws must be extended immediately to secure economic equality for working men.

Nationalization of industry must be commenced at once.

Better supplies of food must be arranged and available stocks must be placed at the disposal of the people.

All military formations which do not remain true to the constitution must be disbanded.

Population Of Dayton 153,830; Shows Good Gain

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 24.—Population statistics for 1920 announced today by the census bureau included:

Dayton, Ohio, 153,830, an increase of 57,253 or 31.1 percent over 1910.

Parkersburg, W. Va., 20,024, increase 2,197 or 12.3 percent.

Middletown, N. Y., 18,420, increase 3,107 or 20.3 percent.

Warren, Ohio, 27,050, increase 15,909 or 14.1 percent.

Trenton, Mo., 6,961, increase 1,205 or 22.9 percent.

Junction City, Kansas, 7,516, increase 1,918 or 34.3 percent.

Kewanee, Ill., 16,026, increase 6,719, or 72.2 percent.

Dayton ranked as fifth Ohio city and forty-third city of the country in population in 1910, with 116,577 people. An increase of 36.6 percent over 1900. Only eight other cities whose population was more than 100,000 in 1910, have been announced this far in the 1920 census. Of these Syracuse, N. Y., which was the thirty-fourth city in 1910, has reported 171,647 people; Toledo, which was the thirtieth city, has been announced as having 243,162 people and has passed both Louisville and St. Paul, twenty-fourth city and twenty-sixth city respectively. In 1910, by more than 8,000. Albany, N. Y., the fifth city in 1910, has reported its 1920 population as 113,334. The other cities, Milwaukee, Washington and Cincinnati all have populations of more than 400,000.

Delaware Vote On Suffrage Still In Doubt

DOVER, DEL., March 24.—Whether Delaware would be the 36th state to ratify the woman suffrage constitutional amendment still was in doubt today, when the legislature convened for the third day of its extraordinary session.

No vote in either body of the legislature was in prospect before next Friday and the struggle for votes between the advocates and opponents of suffrage continues unabated today with both still claiming victory.

Governor Townsend said he was sure the resolution ratifying the amendment would be "put over."

Wants Probe Of Gasoline Prices

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24.—Investigation by the department of justice of recent advances in prices of gasoline, kerosene, fuel oil and other petroleum products would be directed under a resolution introduced today by Representative Dyer, republican, Missouri.

The attorney general, under the resolution, would investigate the accounts of the leading concerns producing oil products and would report to the house the existence of any combination to restrain trade.

Meet To Name 14 Delegates

NEW HAVEN, CONN., March 24.—The Republican state convention in session here today to name 14 delegates to the national convention of the party, also had before it a resolution urging Governor Holcomb to call a special session of the legislature to act on the federal suffrage amendment.

The governor, who is a Republican, has on several occasions refused to call an emergency session to take up this question.

BOLSHEVIKI IN FURIOUS ATTACK ON THE POLES

WARSAW, March 23.—Russian Bolshevik forces, which have attacked the Polish front with great fury in the vicinity of Lublinsk, have been repulsed everywhere, according to an official statement issued at army headquarters here.

The Soviet forces were equipped with armored automobiles and tanks, and seemed to center their attack in the direction of Moir in an effort to retake that place from the Poles.

At some places there was hand-to-hand fighting and villages were taken and retaken before the Bolsheviks were finally driven back.

Lemberg newspapers announce the capture of Mobiler by the Soviet forces and say that citizens are fleeing abroad of the Red army.

Ukrainian headquarters have been recovered to Human by Premier Macera, it is said.

Congressman Browning Drops Dead

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 24.—Representative W. J. Browning of Camden, N. J., dropped dead today in the barber shop at the capitol.

LONDON, March 24.—More than 16,000 anti-Bolshevik soldiers have been found frozen to death on the steppes, it is announced in a Soviet military communique received today from Moscow by wire-less.

(The Steppes comprise the plains in southeastern Russia and the western Asiatic provinces.)

American Legion Has New Plan For The Soldier Relief

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24.—Representatives of the American Legion had ready today for presentation to the house ways and means committee, a new plan for soldier relief, embracing provisions for land settlement, home building aid, vocational training and payment of adjusted compensation.

The proposal is a substitute for the original bill explained to the committee earlier this month by Commander Franklin D. Miller and Thomas W. Miller, chairman of the legislative committee. The fourfold plan, carrying new rates of compensation, was approved last night at a meeting of the executive committee.

Under the bill, land projects in all states would be available to former service men and credit at the rate of $150 for every day of service together with a loan at the rate of 15 per cent interest would be authorized.

Compensation at $2 a day would be paid those who desire to acquire homes in city or country sections.

Vocational training would be extended for a time equivalent to service in the army or navy and compensation at $150 a day would be paid. Adjusted compensation for those who do not desire to participate in land projects, home building aid or vocational training would be paid at $150 for each day of service to be available within a year from the passage of the bill by congress. Former service men would have ten years in which to file application exercising one of the four options.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., March 24.—Returns received this morning from yesterday's presidential preference republican primary, showed that in 1917 precincts, out of 1,740, Major General Leonard Wood, had obtained 21,095 votes; Frank O. Lowden, 17,350, and Senator William Johnson 15,985. The returns received represent 53 out of 64 counties and include those from all the principal cities of the state.

Wood was leading in 31 of the counties heard from and was tied with Lowden in one. Johnson was ahead in eleven counties and Lowden was leading in ten.

The eleven missing counties have a total of only 173 voting precincts.

MAGEE MAY START BASEBALL WAR

CINCINNATI, O., Mar. 24.—(Revelations of a sensational nature are limited at in an announcement made here today by Tee Magee, former National league ball player. "On Saturday," said Magee, "I shall make public the charges on which the National league bases its action in barring me from its circuit. I'll show the documents both in my favor and against me and let the public judge whether I've been fairly treated. I'll add to this: 'I'm going to burn my bridges and jump off the rock. If I am barred I'll take quite a few noted people with me. I'll show up some people for tricks turned over since 1906 and there will be merry music in the baseball world.' Magee, it is said, was refused a contract by the Chicago National league club for 1920.

Real Joy Giving. Joy giving comes within the reach of everybody. So many people make a business of their first attempts. They think they are for the most part. They want to give for ready cash. They don't see the way it is done. You must be genuinely in earnest and put yourself into it if you are to get results that are worth anything. You must not think of the thing you are doing as a business. It must be a genuine desire to help others. That is the only way to get the most out of it.

Be Bold. Some fellows shun a big risk because they are afraid of a loss. But you'll never get any if you are afraid of getting it. You must be bold.

March 24—Red Peppers vs. Invincibles, Play House alleys.
March 25—Lumberjacks vs. Scribes, Play House alleys.

The Lactones and Turkeys copped two-out of three from the Norwoods and rollers in the Masonic league last night, the Lactones trimming their adversaries at the Play House alleys.

While the Turkeys strutted around their opponents at the Pennant alleys, the games were well played—in a sense—and it really looked as though the directors had equalized the playing strength of the teams. Earl Clare was the only new player to show forth, but he shone with the refulgence of a newly minted dollar as a member of the rollers. He has taken the place of Salem Shaw, who has been slumped to the territories and will no doubt make the rollers a contender for the flag.

Born cool work was done last night by Messrs. Bauer, Clare, Spencer, Hazz and Leach, all these worthies shooting well over the 200 mark. Paul Bauer of the Turkeys distinguished himself by hanging on two 200 scores and Captain Jackson expects to issue a statement within the next fortnight as to why his team will win the flag.

SOLVAY DUCK PIN LEAGUE

Team P. W. L. Pct.
Buz Runners—24 10 8 66
Wreckers—24 13 11 54
Shunks—21 6 15 28
Tar Babies—21 8 13 38

Schedule
March 25—Tar Babies vs. Shunks.

Out of a wind and woe night at the Play House alleys last night, the Buz Runners, leaders in the Solvay Duck Pin League, emerged victorious in two out of three games over the Wreckers, their nearest competitors. The Wreckers with the reputation as being the noisiest team in the league, whooped and yelled their way through all existing but only in the second frame when they broke the league record for duck team total with a score of 541 and overturned the equilibrium of the lasters.

Both games won by the Buz Runners were pulled out of the fire by brilliant finishes. Taking the alleys in two frames of the first and third games, Mr. Barton's warriors went after the pins in great style knocking 'em galley west and ripping to splinters the last that had been attained by their opponents in the earlier frames. The leader the Wreckers yelled the battle: the Buz Runners howled. As a result, the Buz Runners are still three full games in the lead in the league.

Some of the wood topplers last night, Swedenborg anchor man for the Wreckers rolled into the 400 class. Mr. Barton, although greatly worried for fear the pin boys would fall asleep before the evening was over, despite the roar and din of the players, was right behind his opponent with 364. Tackney shot with uncommon accuracy pulling down 441. Clare for the Buz Runners also had a big night for the Buz Runners. He kept up a steady clip. Here are the scores:

ADMIRAL SIMS AND HIS CHARGES

JOSEPHUS DANIELS may not be the most brilliant man who ever occupied the office of secretary of the navy, but when it comes to level-headedness and preserving equanimity under fire, he has no superiors and few equals. Take the case of the criticisms leveled at the navy department by Admiral Sims. Sims came home from Europe with a great and deserved reputation for the work he had done as chief of our naval operations during the war. He ranked high in the estimation of his countrymen and when he opened up on the navy department it is not putting it too strong to say that his countrymen were agast. Then Sims grew more and more loquacious but the more he talked, the less Secretary Daniels had to say, in fact he shut up like a clam and let Sims occupy the center of the stage.

Then Admiral Sims made the astounding statement that prior to his departure for Europe to take over command of American ships in foreign waters and co-operate with our English, French and Italian allies, he was told "not to let the English pull the wool over his eyes, that we would just as soon fight them as the Germans." Sims did not say so, but the implication was plain to every one that Secretary Daniels had made this as part of his instructions to the Admiral concerning our chief ally. It was so amazing that the public could scarcely credit it, yet Secretary Daniels said nothing, neither denied nor affirmed. And the belief gradually settled upon the public that Daniels had been guilty of this monstrous statement about an ally, just as we were entering the great war.

But now Sims has been put on the grill. Hitherto he has been having plain sailing, being permitted to say what he pleased and how he pleased. Now he is being quizzed and the first question hurled at him was, "who told him or gave him those instructions about England?" Sims did not want to tell, but he was ordered to do so. And then he said that it was not Secretary Daniels, but that the remark was made by Admiral Benson, chief of staff during the war, after Secretary Daniels had given him instructions, and in the course of an informal conversation among high officers in the navy department. He admitted he attached no importance to the remark at the time, but thought Benson was anti-British in feeling. He said Admiral Benson repeated the remark to him the next day when they met at a hotel for luncheon. Secretary Daniels apparently never knew of the incident.

Under further questioning, Admiral Sims admitted he had shown his letter criticizing the naval conduct of the war to a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., before it was sent to Secretary Daniels and a senator declared he would show that a copy of the letter was in the possession of a newspaper correspondent prior to its going to the navy department. Other developments are promised and none of them apparently will redound to the credit of Admiral Sims.

It is too bad that the fame of this admittedly efficient naval officer should be marred by his own indiscretions, yet it does begin to appear that he is going to reap the harvest of disfavor he sought to sow for the head of the navy department and for his brother officers in the service.

We await with interest the testimony of Rear Admiral Benson. We imagine it will put the finishing crimp in Sims' charges, for Benson is something of a fighter himself, and considered one of the greatest officers in the navy.

The Wood and Harding managers in Ohio are at it tooth and nail, and the air is full of charges of corruption. Harding's friends say Wood has all the millions on Wall street coaxed, while Wood's Ohio manager shouts that Harding has so much money at his command he cannot spend it all. And furthermore he says that Harding has spent more money in one county in Ohio than Wood spent in 88. With such an early start it is not hard to predict there will be some real, lively times before the April primary rolls round.

Having received a real polite note from our banker that he would appreciate it very much if we would call around and pay up what interest we owed and renew the same at seven per cent, owing to the high cost of living, we got real peeved about it and determined right then and there that we would inaugurate a saving first campaign and not spend another blamed cent until we had paid off every scrap of paper that our signature adorned.

THE RETORT COURTEOUS IN IRONTON

HERE'S a merry little shot taken at Mayor Tom Collett, of Ironton, by the Irontonian, which does not love him at all and which is engaged in a great warfare upon him and the News, the semi-weekly paper owned by Mayor Collett's two sons: "Our esteemed young friend of the News emits an awful squeal because we referred to it as 'the mayor's paper.' Of course our intention was not to give the impression that the mayor actually had any financial interest in the News. If he had we know a few people who would be glad to collect some old judgments through the attachment route. But our reference to 'the mayor's paper' was largely based on the assumption that any man who could get his name in print twenty-seven times in three issues of a paper really owned it, no matter who stood off the creditors."

Being called upon the carpet for making the declaration that we would not have any more high water in this year of 1920, President Henry Baivore, of the Hammer club, qualifies for membership in the Statesmen's Club, by claiming that he was misquoted by a reporter. According to Henry what he said was that we would not have any higher water than this last flood during 1920. He says he is willing to risk a reputation, gained by 51 years of close observation of the weather and river upon this assertion. As we have never been able to prove any deviation from the truth on Henry when it came to river observations, we accept his explanation and will have a session of prayer with the reporter who interviewed him, admonishing him to be more exact and careful the next time.

Here is a cordial personal post card from a Mr. Hamblet of the First National Oil Company of Houston, Tex., who seems to know us well and to be greatly interested in our future success in life, though we can't exactly place him, and who holds out the strong hope that if we will invest $100 in the First National it will return profits of $22,999 within a very few days, and Mr. Hamblet must be a very kind man, as otherwise we should think he's keep still about it and invest the $100 himself, even if he had to borrow it at seven per cent. —Ohio State Journal.

The Diary of an Engaged Girl

BRINY GUNNY SENTIMENTAL.
 Well, such funny things have happened. I am here in my room, at twelve-thirty, once more disgraced. I am also disillusioned. I have discovered that even fiancés are not always what they seem to be!

After the family left for the theater this evening, I got desperately lonely and called up Briny. He came like a shot, and we argued at each other like a pair of pirates, as we found ourselves alone for the first time in ages. How that man understands women!

We sat and talked for an hour, and I told him all about the way I felt—restless and eager to live alone for years to come.

He sympathized, as he always does, and told me that was the joy and the curse of being an artist. Then we discussed the situation calmly, and he advised me to get on to myself, and let the artist in me have a chance. He knew of a studio to let, moderate, and all that, and suggested that I take it the next day, and paint there in relaxed every afternoon, instead of walking or visiting. It was a wonderful paradise he opened up to me. I am going to do it, tomorrow. I must have the right to self-expression, or go mad. I have so many things to do, and simply cannot stand my present sort of existence any longer.

Then Briny asked me to come out and have a dance with him and a bite. I got my things on and we slipped out of the house, feeling deliciously carefree and wicked. We went to a restaurant that he knows of, and got a cozy table in a corner all by ourselves where we could watch the people. Briny and I have so many tastes in common. The longer I am engaged to Jack the more I realize this.

You see types are our passion. And there were so many different ones in the place. I felt very much a woman of the world as we sat and speculated in that idle and chimney fashion, that only artists know, about the occupants at the other tables. Briny thinks it's

BILLY WHISKERS

When Woolly Ball dashed into the room with her tail above, Day and Night followed her to the edge, and cracks and two or three more, and you never saw such a sorry old fellow. These he ate, and had at your life as Night was when he finished the box of crackers found how badly he had hurt her, when the girls opened the door to whom she walked out of the water, and he was so still, and then with only the tone of her tall hair, she saw him having a feast off the thing to her without a bit of wool on it, things the nurse had put on the shelf of the baby.

"Oh, Woolly, dear, sweet, Woolly, for the fire would burn you," said Night, thought you must be in mischief, you as he licked her face and kissed her short, black nose. "Yes," chimed in Day, "he forgave him. He did not mean to hurt you, Woolly," and Day pleaded for her twin brother.

Woolly Ball, being of a sweet, forgiving disposition, forgave him and then, where they were (found him), and the two kids had a good half-hour laughing over the trick they had played on the children.

Heaven Love Song
 (From the Boston Transcript)
 The stars drew on, but my Yanna drew on.

Out on the Northern Sea
 Where they had in the cool, both night and day.

And the sharp wind blows free,
 But Yanna will return when the summer is fading.

Out on the Northern Sea
 Return to his Moon, whose patiently waiting.

Here in Old Brittany.
 My hair will I dress in very blue style,
 When Yanna returns from the sea.

Oh, then he will praise me, and tenderly smile.
 For Yanna loves his mother and me.

And he will return when the summer is fading.
 Out on the Northern Sea—
 Return to his Moon who's watching and waiting.

Here in Old Brittany.

Getting Her Way
 To make a hit
 Her plan is clear.
 She keeps a list.
 A profit treat.

My Enemy
 I hate him;
 That man with the black hair.
 So neatly parted.
 And the continued smile.
 That fascinates foolish girls.
 I hate him.
 If he looks at the girl by my side.
 She will lose interest in me.

New-York - Day - By - Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 24—

It was in a great cafe.

Edna and Helen.

With soft perfumes.

And jeweled women came.

With resplendent escorts.

And far off behind palms.

Came the soft strains.

Of a hidden orchestra.

Mingling with the soft ripple.

Of a lighted fountain.

And I looked about.

And through the plush curtains.

Of the entrance I saw her.

A wild westward flower.

Waited from Elysian fields.

Her hair tinged with gold.

And lips of sullen red.

Like a flame swept city.

And her lithe white hands.

Were heavy with gems.

And my soap got cold.

The Plot

Harry—I don't like that necktie you're wearing.

Harry—Do me a favor, old man?

Harry—Sure; what is it?

Harry—Repeat that some time when you see me with my wife.

Silence In The Court

There is a colored judge in a certain southern city before whom persons of his race are tried. Aunt Dier, a large specimen of flesh and good nature, had given her testimony. The judge asked the court stenographer to read Aunt Dier the testimony, in order that she might say if it had been correctly transcribed. Aunt Dier interrupted: "Judge, did she put it down that I is fifty-six years old?"

Aunt Dier—aw, ledge, spoken I did say I was fifty-six. I was meaning my last measure.

Back Statement
 At the Workmen's Institute there rose a fierce discussion as to whether women should be given a chance of filling the high appointments.

"Twouldn't do!" said a youthful and newly married firebrand. "Just think of a woman as a secretary of the treasury. What do they know about finance, anyway?"

The effective phrase was spoiled by an older man, who said, solemnly: "You just go home to the missus next Friday night $5 short in your pay and you'll soon see out!" —Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Trifle Used
 "What's the matter with Oliver?" "Been playing the races." "What happened?" "He started out to try and win a winter percent and lost a little house." —Louisville Courier-Journal.

His Condition
 Miss Mugsy (in studio)—I would like to have you paint my portrait, Mr. Sellers, but $1,000 is too much. Artist—Well, I'll do it for $500, but I'll tell you in advance it will be an awfully accurate likeness. —Boston Transcript.

Mockery
 Mamma—Somebody has taken my silk stockings out of my bureau drawer.

Bobbie—I saw grandma come out of here a minute ago.

What It Meant
 Willis Jr.—I'm a self-made man. Made my money by hard work. Do you know what that means?

Willis Jr.—It means you were not clever enough to graft it, lucky enough to have it left to you, or handsome enough to marry it. —Town Topics.
